The months before and after a new birth are often a period of unusually high purchasing activity. The immediate needs of the new infant inspire purchases including diapers, clothes, formula, cribs, toys, etc. Daycare, doctors and healthcare are new issues at both the pre- and postnatal stage.

Insurance matters must be examined, and other financial planning and investing take on a new light. A new addition to a family may lead to a move to larger living quarters, as well. This file of New Births & Prenatals is recommended for all offers spotlighting the needs of babies and their parents.
